

Deep Incarnation and Evolutionary Science: Grounding a Compelling Christian Spirituality Today

Mary Ellen Sheehan, IHM, PhD
Saturday, November 14, 9:30am-12:30pm
Suggested Offering: $25

Contemporary theologians such as Nils Gregersen, Elizabeth Johnson, Ilia Delio, and Denis Edwards refuse today's separation of science and religion. They lay out the connection in compelling "new" and "ancient" theological reflection on Jesus as Incarnate Word. What does "deep incarnation" mean? How does it invite us to embrace fully both evolutionary science and evolutionary theology in understanding and action? This workshop will explore the emergence of "Deep Incarnation" and engage us in individual and group spiritually nourishing reflection.

Mary Ellen Sheehan, IHM, STD, earned a Doctorate in Sacred Theology from the Catholic University of Louvain in Belgium and is a Professor Emerita of Theology at St. Michael's College of the Toronto School of Theology. Currently, she offers lectures, workshops, and retreats that relate theology to a range of questions emerging in our current cultural context. She draws on the contemplative character of theology to deepen our experience and understanding of God and to explore the meaning of committed Christian discipleship in our world today.
